
Your Information. Your Rights. Our Responsibilities.

This notice describes how medical information about you may be used and disclosed and how you can get access to this information. Please review it carefully.

Your Rights

When it comes to your health information, you have certain rights. This section explains your rights and some of our responsibilities to help you.

Get an electronic or paper copy of your medical record

- You can ask to see or get an electronic or paper copy of your medical record and other health information we have about you. Ask us how to do this.
- We will provide a copy or a summary of your health information, usually within 30 days of your request. We may charge a reasonable, cost-based fee.

Ask us to correct your medical record

- You can ask us to correct health information about you that you think is incorrect or incomplete. Ask us how to do this.
- We may say “no” to your request, but we’ll tell you why in writing within 60 days.

Request confidential communications

- You can ask us to contact you in a specific way (for example, home or office phone) or to send mail to a different address.
- We will say “yes” to all reasonable requests.

Ask us to limit what we use or share

- You can ask us not to use or share certain health information for treatment, payment, or our operations.
- We are not required to agree to your request, and we may say “no” if it would affect your care.
- If you pay for a service or health care item out-of-pocket in full, you can ask us not to share that information for the purpose of payment or our operations with your health insurer.
- We will say “yes” unless a law requires us to share that information.

Get a list of those with whom we’ve shared information

- You can ask for a list (accounting) of the times we’ve shared your health information for six years prior to the date you ask, who we shared it with, and why.
 - We will include all the disclosures except for those about treatment, payment, and health care operations, and certain other disclosures (such as any you asked us to make). We’ll provide one accounting a year for free but will charge a reasonable, cost-based fee if you ask for another one within 12 months.
-

continued on next page

Our Uses and Disclosures

How do we typically use or share your health information? We typically use or share your health information in the following ways.

Treat you	<ul style="list-style-type: none">We can use your health information and share it with other professionals who are treating you.	Example: A doctor treating you for an injury asks another doctor about your overall health condition.
Run our organization	<ul style="list-style-type: none">We can use and share your health information to run our practice, improve your care, and contact you when necessary.	Example: We use health information about you to manage your treatment and services.
Bill for your services	<ul style="list-style-type: none">We can use and share your health information to bill and get payment from health plans or other entities.	Example: We give information about you to your health insurance plan so it will pay for your services.

How else can we use or share your health information? We are allowed or required to share your information in other ways – usually in ways that contribute to the public good, such as public health and research. We have to meet many conditions in the law before we can share your information for these purposes. For more information see: www.hhs.gov/ocr/privacy/hipaa/understanding/consumers/index.html.

Help with public health and safety issues	We can share health information about you for certain situations such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none">Preventing diseaseHelping with product recallsReporting adverse reactions to medicationsReporting suspected abuse, neglect, or domestic violencePreventing or reducing a serious threat to anyone's health or safety
Do research	<ul style="list-style-type: none">We can use or share your information for health research.
Comply with the law	<ul style="list-style-type: none">We will share information about you if state or federal laws require it, including with the Department of Health and Human Services if it wants to see that we're complying with federal privacy law.
Respond to organ and tissue donation requests	<ul style="list-style-type: none">We can share health information about you with organ procurement organizations.
Work with a medical examiner or funeral director	<ul style="list-style-type: none">We can share health information with a coroner, medical examiner, or funeral director when an individual dies.
Address workers' compensation, law enforcement, and other government requests	We can use or share health information about you: <ul style="list-style-type: none">For workers' compensation claimsFor law enforcement purposes or with a law enforcement officialWith health oversight agencies for activities authorized by lawFor special government functions such as military, national security, and presidential protective services
Respond to lawsuits and legal actions	<ul style="list-style-type: none">We can share health information about you in response to a court or administrative order, or in response to a subpoena.

Privacy and Security

All staff, upon hire, are required to sign a HIPAA Confidentiality Agreement (or if hired before 12/1/15, take a HIPAA Security and Privacy Training Certification test). We want to ensure that all staff have a working knowledge of HIPAA and how to handle situations that may arise. This explains the required HIPAA rules and regulations which apply to all positions. Each employee only has access to areas of PHI (protected health information) (digital or physical) that is needed to perform their job duties. We regularly take measures to protect health information privacy. We perform periodic risk assessments and look for ways to stay up to date to compliance education and information.

We value our patient's HIPAA privacy and take measures to prevent any breach of PHI. Our employees only discuss patient account information with the patient (unless a patient authorizes another person to receive their PHI (Protected Health Information) as noted in writing on their patient intake). If an unauthorized patient calls and asks about another patient's appointment, they are told by our employee we are unable to provide this HIPAA protected information, except to the patient (or authorized) persons. If a patient is a minor child, we may release information to the parent or legal guardian who signed the Consent to Treat a Minor form. As part of the new patient intake forms, every patient must sign an Authorization to Disclose Protected Health Information – HIPAA POLICY.

Our Responsibilities

- We are required by law to maintain the privacy and security of your protected health information.
- We will let you know promptly if a breach occurs that may have compromised the privacy or security of your information.
- We must follow the duties and privacy practices described in this notice and give you a copy of it.
- We will not use or share your information other than as described here unless you tell us we can in writing. If you tell us we can, you may change your mind at any time. Let us know in writing if you change your mind.

For more information see: www.hhs.gov/ocr/privacy/hipaa/understanding/consumers/noticepp.html

Changes to the Terms of This Notice

We can change the terms of this notice, and the changes will apply to all information we have about you. The new notice will be available upon request, in our office, and on our web site.